The Chamber is growing

The Chamber of Commerce's octagon building at 10 Neal St. is an octagon no more. On Saturday, a work crew moved a modular addition to that structure into place. The addition, which has received city approval, will contain restrooms and a combination conference and work room. Chamber Executive Director Chan Henderson is shown above watching the workmen install the addition.

Park strike settled but Shadow Cliffs still closed

Settlement of the strike involving employes of the East Bay Regional Park District apparently assures a re-opening today of all park facilities to public use. The one exception is Shadow Cliffs Park at Pleasanton which remains closed pending treatment of a parasite problem in those waters.

"This weekend, or at the latest next weekend," was the EBRPD word on the opening of Shadow Cliffs. The popular Stanley Boulevard boating and swimming facility was shut down two weeks ago when some swimmers were afflicated with a burning rash, later determined to be caused by snails inhabiting those waters. The affliction was "more of a nuisance than a danger," but the park was still closed by health authorities until the parasite could be neutralized.

State health officials were scheduled to to take water samples at the park today. If those samples are negative, they will notify county health officials and the park will be reopened to the public "within 24 to 48 hours" after its is cleared by the county, Ed Howell of the health department said.

The strike settlement, which came on Sumday after an apparent 60-day impasse on wage and union membership issues, found Local 2428 accepting the 15.3 salary and fringe benefit package that had been offered by the park two days before the April 3 strike that shut down 28 parks in two counties. That package will cost the district $440,000. The last union demand had been for a 17.8 percent total boost, at a total annual cost to the district of $523,000.

An impasse involving union control of park supervisorial personnel was resolved by district consent to allow park supervisors to come under union jurisdiction, while eight "park zone managers" who do not belong to the union will each have control over three parks. No new personnel will be added as a result of the new alignment, it was explained to The Times.

In addition to Shadow Cliffs, the park district operates Del Valle Lake south of Livermore, Sunol Regional Park east of Sunol and 25 other public facilities throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

For Century House

Command bricking performance

PLEASANTON — To date, 10 city officials have signed up to lay bricks at the "Command Performance Bricklaying Party" at Century House June 7-8.

The bricklaying party was conceived by city staff after they realized they had sufficient money to prepare the patio areas at Century House and to purchase the bricks but not enough funds to pay for laying them.

The public is cordially invited to come and lay bricks alongside their city officials that weekend.

The city council and the park and recreation commission have so far produced three members each, while two members of the Community Concerns Committee and one member each from the planning commission and city staff have volunteered their time.

The schedule, as it stands, is:

SATURDAY, JUNE 7

9 to 11 a.m.: Mayor Ed Kinney and Roberta Kinney, Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire, Councilman Bob Philcox, Planning Commissioner Dave Shepherd and Park and Recreation Commissioner Ken Mercer.

11 a.m. to 1 p.m.: Mercer and 10 volunteers from the Pleasanton Jaycees.

1 to 3 p.m.: No volunteers yet.

3 to 5 p.m.: Ditto.

SUNDAY, JUNE 8

9 to 11 a.m.: Mercer, Park and Recreation Commissioner Hank Gomez and Recreation Superintendent Bob Caporusso.

11 a.m. to 1 p.m.: Caporusso and Park and Recreation Commissioner Jerry Wipfli.

1 to 3 p.m.: Mary Lue Moore and Bill Moore of the Community Concerns Committee.

The Times will print the complete list of official volunteers on Friday.

$184,000 balance

VCSD to consider debt

Valley Community Services District Finance Director Newell Cummings is recommending that VCSD pay off a $184,000 debt in its entirety, and the board of directors will consider that matter at tonight's 7:30 meeting in Dublin.

VCSD borrowed $460,000 from the Bank of California in 1972 to help in expansion of the sewer plant, and agreed to pay it back in five $92,000 installments. Cummings notes that the money is available and recommends that the district pay off both of the last two installments now.

The board also must peruse a contract with Ralph Properties that would extend VCSD's rights to dump garbage and rubbish on Vasco Road in Livermore through May of 1987.

The present agreement will run out early next year.

The new contract calls for VCSD to pay $1 per cubic yard of garbage and includes allowances for inflation (or deflation) that will be determined by the All Commodities Index for the San Francisco Area.

Directors will also consider an agreement with the City of Livermore. Livermore has arranged with Ralph Properties to take over operation of the dump site if it becomes impossible for a nongovernmental agency to run the facility. VCSD is simply being asked to accept Livermore if such an event should take place and to abide by the contract with Ralph Properties.

The board will also get to enjoy for a little bit longer the victory in the May 27 tax rate increase election. Directors must officially approve the vote canvass that will allow development of 47 acres of parkland in Dublin and San Ramon.

The Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) budget will also be scrutinized by the board tonight. VCSD contributes 40.87 per cent of the budget and one-third of the monitor program.

The total proposed LAVWMA expenditures for 1975-76 equal $164,500, with over $81,000 going for an environmental impact report.

SRVUSD draws 50 pickets

DANVILLE - About 50 pickets paraded in front of the San Ramon Valley Unified School District Education Center last night prior to the board of education meeting protesting an approximate 2 per cent salary increase offered by the district.

They carried signs indicating "Five Dollars a Month Won't Feed My Kids". The five dollars is their estimate of what the raise would mean in dollars per month. Teacher spokesmen appearing before the board later in the evening said they needed a 12 per cent raise to meet the cost of living increase here.

Civic Center building bulging

PLEASANTON — Although Pleasanton's new Civic Center opened only 14 months ago, it is apparently already bulging at the seams.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig received permission from the city council last week to begin recruiting for a deputy city attorney and to begin searching for additional office space to house the expanded city attorney's offices.

The city is apparently searching for office space on the south end of Main Street that would be fairly close to the Bernal Avenue Civic Center.

Scheidig estimated the addition of a deputy city attorney and expenses for the office space might amount to $25,000 or $30,000 a year.

A detailed report on salary, benefit and rental costs and the space requirements will be presented to the council at its June 9 meeting.

Pardon our computer

The "typographical mistakes" appearing in the editorial and advertising columns of The Times are for the most part the fault of "Throckmorton" ... the computer which turns out the bulk of this newspaper's type matter.

Throckmorton is new to us, and to you, and we have yet to reach full accord on how to make certain the typewritten words we send in one end, come out the other end as clear, readable type. But we're getting there.

Just as soon as the battle has been won, you'll be the first to know — with the evidence of an error-free newspaper which is always our goal.

Mass meeting this afternoon

MESD teachers plan rejected

DUBLIN - Prior to last night's Murray Elementary School District Board of Trustees meeting at Nielsen School, representatives of the Murray Teachers' Association(MTA) proposed a "4-4-4" plan to move the stalled negotiations off dead center.

Don Leege, MTA president, outlined the plan which calls for an immediate 4 per cent teacher salary raise, an amount equivalent to that 4 per cent raise (approximately $100,000) for instructional classroom use at teacher discretion and another 4 per cent for teachers contingent on any incoming state or federal monies.

Leege stated that the offer was "ignored" and teachers were again offered a straight 4 per cent salary increase.

Immediately before the MESD board meeting, Robert Foster, president of the school board, handed out a written statement to the press, later to be read into the minutes of the meeting.

In the open letter, Foster cited salary increases already approved by the board amounting to 9.7 per cent plus the 4 per cent offered to teachers in current negotiations. The letter further states that due to legislative action MESD must pay out of its funds an additional $1,200 per teacher because of reductions in state funding.

The letter chided teachers for their failure to agree to allow the teachers to bring in a third party to examine and explain the budget objectively.

Teachers will respond to the district at a mass meeting today at 3:45 p.m. at Shannon Community Center. A similar meeting last year produced the first-ever strike vote in valley education history.

Students matured at 'Operation closeup'

LIVERMORE — They talk about this in a "once-in-a life-time" tone of voice, but the feeling persists that these students have already put it into perspective and matured ever-so-much from the week-long in-depth look through the nation's capital. They are not to be conned or given the "Standard Operational Public Relations Presentation" ala the Pentagon. And questions first and tailor-made answers next turns them off.

This group of nine from Granada High School is not certain how they'll be able to apply the lessons they learned in the Closeup program (which included students of high school age from throughout the nation), but you can tell after a short talk with them that vistas have been broadened. They are more aware, more understanding and so much more sophisticated than the preps I remember Circa '55.

Yet, were it not for several community groups, parents and teachers, only one or two would have been able to spend the early-May week in Washington, D.C., along with students from Amador, Foothill, Dublin and Livelore.

Attending from Granada, along with teacher Blaude Cameron, were Cindy Gardner, Debbie Lagapa, Beth Overen, Freddy Schrool, Jim Mackanic, David Pitts, Jim Cross, Arcelia Ledezma and Kelly Anderson.

Jim Cross went as recipient of a Closeup grant and Arcelia was a local grant recipient. The Lions Club and Project Southwest provided funds to cover attendance (air fare, living expenses) while individual faculty members, Latin Organization for Betterment, Filipino-American Organization, G.I. Forum of Fremont and Columbian Women all contributed individually.

Kelly felt most of the legislators and government office representatives were pretty "open".

"A lot of times they expressed their opinions and they differed from ours, but we could tell it was just what they were feeling," stated Jim Mackanic. However, he as well as other members of the Granada nine felt that a problem with the program was that the various student groups would ask the same questions over and over.

Like many of the other valley students, the Granadans were impressed with Rep. Fortney Stark. Said Beth, "He talked to us about 20 minutes and it was all about 'person' things.

Debbie was struck by the informality of Congress ..." but they really seemed to know what they were doing. Cindy then interjected the very profound thought that "it wasn't necessary to have to agree with everyone else's point of view." This opened up a segment of conversation dealing with the individual's opinion in relation to those of the group.

Jim Cross brought it into sharp focus by explaining that many students apparently went into the Pentagon with some preconceived ideas (on armaments, the arms race, war) that were not about to be shaken no matter what they saw and heard.

Arcelia approached this communications and philosophical gap from a different angle, indicating that the students who took part are a product of their various locales ... the student living in the suburbs such as Livermore cannot fully understand the problems and thought processes of those residing in the city.

The Granadans, as well as many others taking part in Closeup, had apparently been present on several occasions when an admitted Marxist and teacher from San Francisco badgered speakers from various government offices. Kelly noted, though, that this man apparently got his come-uppance when at least one of the speakers came back at him in much the same manner.

Rep. Don Edwards, whose district includes part of Southern Alameda County and San Jose, apparently was highly un-impressive. One Granadan said Edwards would ask for questions initially and then give answers that "sounded good."

Beth, as well as other members of the group, were disturbed when they learned that the deaf students could not communicate while they were in the Senate gallery. It prompted Beth to sit down and write Rep. Stark a letter.

Freddie joined with Beth and every other Granadan in praise for teacher-chaperone Claude Cameron. They were also high in their praise for members of the Closeup staff, who setup the seminars, conferences and tours.

At least two members of the group plan to build on what they've learned. Freddy will major in political science at Chabot College in the fall while Kelly ... "I didn't have much political drive before I went to Washington"... has set her sights on studies in environmental science.

Jim Close, the one recipient of a Closeup grant, saw the logo for the program ... an eagle superimposed on an inward-leading line ... as an accurate reflection of what the program provided for him ... a look inward at his thought processes and feelings.

Colorful Color Guard

Debbie Foscalina, Janelle Flanagin and Jenifer Serpa will comprise the Junior Color Guard that will lead the Livermore Rodeo Parade at 10 a.m. this Saturday. The girls will also lead the grand entry into Robertson Park. Monday night, Livermore Mayor Archer Futch purchased the first rodeo ticket to kick off Livermore's Rodeo Week.

Airport after transportation

LIVERMORE - A transport center near the airport — which would provide frequent, direct service for valley commuters, shoppers, car passengers and other travellers to downtown Oakland, San Francisco, Bay Area airports and other major destinations — is envisioned by planning consultant John Cone.

A letter outlining the transport center concept to Planning Director George Musso will be considered by the planning commission at its meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Court Chambers, 39 S. Livermore Ave.

Cone, an urban economics and planning systems consultant, explains that his idea is outgrowth of a commuter study he did for the city's General Plan consultants and an analysis of the potential for air passengers for Livermore's airport master plan and land use consultants.

He is submitting his proposal for Musso's reactions and suggestions for a special feasibility study, he explains in his letter.

As outlined, Cone's concept calls for a transport center at the intersection of I-580 and Isabel Avenue, based on the fact that the citys's General Plan consultants are proposing that Isabel be a major cross town arterial with an interchange at the freeway.

The location is convenient since it can be reached by a dial-a-ride service from Pleasanton, Dublin, San Ramon Village and all parts of Livermore, he explains. Also, there is plenty of space in the surrounding areas for parking.

Following a list of eight "developments" contributing to Cone's concept (population projections and increased commuter figures, smog, a bus lane in the widened I-580 and the city's study of dial-a-ride), he outlines the determinations that need to be made in a special study of the proposed transport center.

These are:

- The potential use of such a facility.
- The type, size and design of a building, related parking and storage areas for the center and its associated uses (baggage handling, parcel delivery, auto rental, restaurant, travel agencies, inter-city buses, etc.).
- Types and combinations of vehicles (buses, transit, aircraft, etc.) and operations which would most effectively serve the demand.
- Requirements for terminal facilities and local distribution capabilities at airports, downtown areas, employment centers and other major destinations.
- Costs for the operation of the center and the transit vehicles.
- Impact of the center on the environment.

In other business, the planning commission will hold a public hearing for a conditional use permit application for the sale, service and repair of appliance parts at 3927 First Street; continue discussion of a revised political sign ordinance.

TIMES CARRIER DAVE DAVISON AND CIRCULATION MANAGER WARREN BARRY DISPLAY THE CERTIFICATE DAVE WAS AWARDED WITH A $500 SCHOLARSHIP.

Times carrier Dave Davison receives a $500 scholarship

Times carrier Dave Davison of San Ramon has been awarded a $500 scholarship in state-wide competition from the California Newspaper Youth Foundation.

A total of 55,000 California carriers competed for 27 such scholarships.

Dave was selected on the basis of his outstanding business performance to represent The Times in the contest. Times carrier James Wesley Chapman also was awarded one of the scholarships in 1974.

At 17, Dave's carrier career spans five years, the past two and one-half with The Times. He delivers newspapers in the San Ramon area.

Dave is a junior at Monte Vista High School and swims for both the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and Northern California Aquatics (Norcal).

He plans to use his scholarship and the profits he earns as a Times carrier to study electronics at one of the University of California campuses.

An active youth, Dave hopes to land another job for the summer and earn his Eagle badge from Scout Troop No. 201. He also finds time to camp and backpack in Yosemite and the Sierras.

Dave has become better at selling and meeting people as a result of his carrier experience, he says. The job also has taught him discipline and responsibility, he adds.

"I have to go to bed earlier and get up earlier. It teaches me responsibility — I have to get something done on time," he explains.

Mrs. Peg Hopkins, district advisor to Dave who nominated him to represent The Times, certainly agrees with those statements. What's more, she has the highest praise for Dave in exactly those areas he mentions.

"I have a lot of respect for him" she comments. "He is a very steady person. He just continues to work towards his goals in a nice, steady way. He doesn't work in spurts; he works continuously."

She also notes that Dave has early morning swim work-outs at his high school and must complete his newspaper route before his practice.

"I think to get up early for swimming is exceptional and to get up to do a paper route is exceptional. But to do both and to do them well — that's very commendable," she states.

Dave has lived in the valley for the past seven years with his parents, three brothers and one sister. Two of his brothers also are carriers for The Times.

Mori for anti-fliptop legislation in Sacramento

SACRAMENTO - The use of flip-top containers in California would be outlawed Jan. 1, 1979, under legislation approved last Friday by the State Assembly with the support of Assemblyman Floyd Mori.

"These little razor-edged pull-tabs are a menace to public safety and environmental quality," Mori said. "They are a leading cause of injuries and litter."

The Assembly Resources and Land Use Committee, which approved AB 1037 unanimously, reports approximately 331 million pull-tabs are dropped each year on public lands in California.

A 1975 survey conducted by the Institute of Applied Research found pull-tabs account for nearly 11 percent of all litter, constituting the leading single component of all items found discarded on California public lands. They account for 11.3 percent of all injuries related to litter.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, requires California manufacturers of metal beverage containers to report to the Secretary of Resources on their progress in converting can designs which use "non-severable" closures.

STATE BUDGET

Mori has expressed satisfaction with the $11.5 billion 1975-76 state budget which was considered by the State Assembly Monday.

"It is a carefully drawn and prudent spending program that recognizes the hard realities of the uncertain economic conditions of the new fiscal year," Mori said.

The Democratic legislator noted the budget subcommittees of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee conducted a total of 162 meetings in their months-long scrutiny of the spending proposals introduced by Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.

"Naturally, there are some expenditures each lawmaker would prefer to increase and others individuals would prefer to reduce," Mori observed, "but I am generally satisfied with the Assembly version of the budget."

Assembly budget writers approved expenditures in the fields of health and welfare and education which exceed the governor's proposed budget by approximately $150 million.

These budget additions include $65.2 million for aid to the aged, blind and disabled citizens, $15.8 million for mental health programs, $11.6 million for homemaker services, $1.7 million for crippled children programs, $5 million to help children with developmental disabilities, and $13 million to cover nursing home rates increased in the Medi-Cal program.

Additional education spending contained in the Assembly budget includes $35.5 million to expand the Early Childhood Education program from 22 percent to 40 percent of pupils in kindergarten through the third grade.

Last minute settlement averts countywide strike

A last minute settlement of differences Friday between Alameda County and its employes averted a strike this week.

After a marathon session last Thursday night and a long session Friday morning and afternoon, agreement was reached between the approximately 9,000 county employes and Alameda County just before the supervisors, by law, had to enact the salary schedule for 1975-76.

If agreement had not been reached, a strike was considered a strong possibility for this week.

The final settlement with the largest single union — the Service Employes' International Union, which represents over 6,000 workers — called for an across the board $60 per month boost plus 3 per cent.

Young girl hurt by motorcycle

LIVERMORE - A three-and-one-half year old girl was injured slightly Saturday morning by a nine-year-old boy driving a motorcycle on the sidewalk of Canton Avenue near Colombus.

Witness agree the boy was not speeding, and suggest the young girl may have become frightened and run in front of the motorcycle.

The boy, cited later for driving on the sidewalk, told police he tried to stop, but the front wheel of the motorcycle knocked the girl to the ground.

Livermore captain upset at thievery

LIVERMORE - It may not require the Marines, or the diplomatic expertise of Henry Kissinger, but the pirating of a power boat from downtown, land-locked Livermore has its owner, a Newark carpenter, just as furious as the skipper of the Mayaguez.

Donald H. Gordillo, 23, told police he was off on a camping/boating trip when he stopped in Livermore for a beer at 9:30 p.m., Friday. He left his $3,000-plus outboard boat on its trailer attached to his truck in the parking lot of 2163 First St., and when he came out — Which way to Cambodia? - the boat, trailer and full load of camping and wategskiing equipment were gone, lifted neatly from his truck.

Gordillo described his boat as white with gold metal flake and white upholstery, powered by a 60 h.p. Evenrude outboard motor and loaded with sleeping bags, a tent, water skis and camping, boating and skiing equipment of an as yet undetermined value.

Mr. Kissinger has not been heard from.

Sparks fly in wake of the wives

A big piece of the action was captured by the fireman's wife at Sunday's Firemen's Muster at the Pleasanton fairgrounds. Above, lead members of the San Mateo team take forceful aim at the target, in the last act of a sequence which involves hauling a hose cart 100 yards, making the connection to a hydrant, attaching the nozzle and toppling the target. All in less than a minute's time! Below, the six-woman St. Francis Hook and Ladder team demonstrates the dynamic enthusiasm generated by women's teams which practice up to three times a week year-round — all for the thrill of the run and valuable attention-getting for their fire departments.

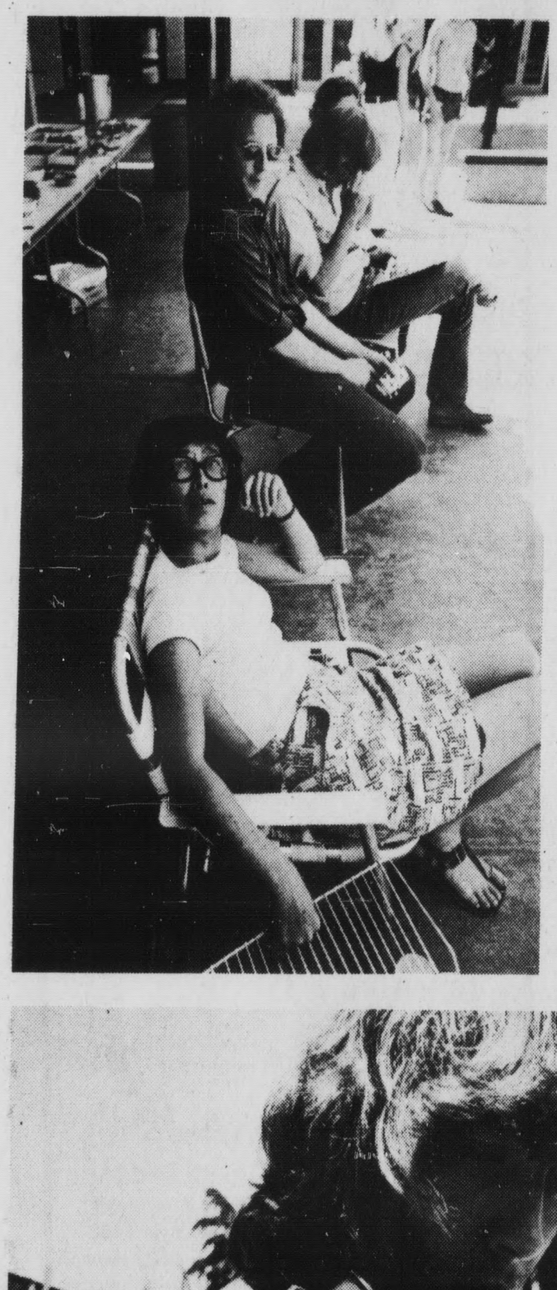
Amador Valley High School art show

Young talent to the fore!



The Pleasanton community appraised and applauded student work at the recent Amador Valley High School art show. Times Photographer Mike Bailey, a senior at Amador and an artist in his own right, captured the community experience. Clockwise from top: Mrs. Barbara Norton finds student drawings an easy subject for a mid-afternoon meditation; Photographer zeroes in on an original mirror painting, and pretty blonde Judy Knight; The ceramic tables offered a pleasing sensory experience; Paul Mehling entertained strollers; Art instructors Jeff Dreyfus and Evelyn Moriguchi take a breather on the sidelines; Ceramic duo catches the eye of Mrs. Shirley Welch; Saxophonist Nick DeScala.

For Tuesday, June 3, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be willing to make concessions in dealing with associates today, though you strongly feel your way is best — which it is.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your freedom of movement will be sharply curtailed today because of tasks imposed upon you. Delegate work where possible.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In club or organizational work today, volunteer with care. If you tackle an assignment, have a committee to back you up.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be prepared to switch tactics today to achieve your goals. Use an alternate plan if the opposition gets too stiff.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't try to convince one whose views completely oppose yours of the merits of your ideas today. He can't be sold at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be extra-protective of your resources today, especially if dealing with one whose motives are suspect. Resist high-pressure selling.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be too stiff-necked today with one who is co-operative toward you. You could find yourself faced-out of something you could have shared.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your imagination today to come up with ways to cut costs for work or service that you now need performed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid a social scene today where you'll find yourself too close to one whose actions annoy you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep one who has no business butting into private family matters out of your affairs. He'll just stir things up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll feel today that you have to sound your ideas out on others before trying them. Don't ask advice from one who is always negative.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful today of one who may be looking for a piece of the action from something you've earned through your own efforts.

Your Birthday

June 3, 1975

You'll make two very interesting friendships this year through a group activity. Each will prove beneficial, though they will be completely opposite types.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Lancelot the peerless looked over dummy with distaste. Dinadan, the worst player at the square table, raised Lancelot every time he could. But the peerless one wished that Dinadan had just a wee bit more.

Then Lancelot went after the hand like he would go after a dragon or giant. He led a club toward dummy and went up with the king after West played low. The king held and the first dragon had been taken care of.

Next came the queen of spades finesse. Lancelot wanted to take it some time or other and this just might be his only chance.

The queen held and the second dragon had bit the dust. He led the jack of spades, covered with the ace, ruffed a spade in dummy and led a trump.

It was equally simple for Lancelot to go right up with his ace. He wanted to be able to ruff his last spade in dummy and a closing finesse might make that impossible.

The ace dropped the king, but that was frosting on the cake. It just gave Lancelot an overtrick.

Two Neutrons wooed by L.A. U's

Two members of the Livermore Neutrons soccer team were being actively recruited by Southern California universities last Saturday, monents after the team defeated Pico River for the Western Regional Championship in the under-19 Jr. National Challenge Cup.

Mark Bryant of Dublin High School and Chabot College received a scholarship offer from the University of Southern California.

Meanwhile, Dan Payne, the all EBAL forward from Livermore High, was being wooed by Steve Gage, coach at UCLA, one of the nation's perennial soccer powers.

Gage did not make a scholarship offer to Payne, but that may be forthcoming.

Both players were key factors Saturday as the Neutrons scored twice in the second half against Pico River-a.Bryant set up the first goal, and Payne scored the second.

The victory sends Livermore to the Jr. National Cup finals in Milwaukee June 14 and 15. A Dallas club is already in the final field of four, with teams from St. Louis, Ohio and Michigan still eligible.

"I'm glad we've gone this far, because a lot of college coaches get a chance to see me play," said Payne yesterday. He admitted surprise at the overture from the NCAA powerhouse Bruins.

"I didn't have all my senses when I talked to the coach (Gage) because I got hit on the head in the game," Payne said. "So I'm not sure of all he told me. But he said he wants to talk to me again.

"If he offers me some kind of scholarship," Payne said; "I'll probably go the"

Dan's first choice for college was the Air Force Academy, but he was rejected because of a damaged knee, injured this past season at Livermore High.

Another alternative is Chico State University, where Dan's brother Mike is a soccer player. "I'd like to play there with my brother," Dan admitted.

Payne suffered an abrupt collision with the turf during Saturday afternoon's contest in Southern California, and it was lights out for at least a couple of minutes.

"I don't remember anything for the first five minutes after I woke up," he said. "I had reached down with my head to get a ball in front of me when I got pushed from behind. I just crashed.

Vic's in — shoots 76

SAN FRANCISCO - Former Livermore High golfer Vic Wolfe shot a 76 at the Olympic Club here yesterday to qualify for the State Amateur golf championship, which gets underway June 23 at Pebble Beach.

Wolfe, who placed second in the state junior college tournament (representing Chabot), had a very balanced round; going out and coming in with 38's He also had a birdie on each side.

"I had a little trouble with my short game," Wolfe said, explaining how he finished seven strokes back of top qualifier Jim Cody, who fired a 69 on the ocean course.

Vic remains optimistic concerning the State tourney, though, "I have to think positive," he said, "It's just a matter of getting my game together."

A veteran of the Pebble Beach layout, Wolfe has experienced difficulties at the Pacific's edge course in the past.

"Last year I played in a tournament there and didn't do too well," the former Cowboy said. However, he added that it wasn't the course that hurt him most, "I just wasn't hitting the ball well."

Wolfe joins 88 other survivors of the tough 290-strong qualifying field, which included 10 unsuccessful Valley-area golfers.

Forty-five of those making the cut came from the lakeside course, with 44 advancing from the ocean-front 18.

The southern portions of the qualifying was held at Los Serranos Golf Club. Defending champ Curt Worley of Coronado should be among the leaders of that group.

The S/T Zaraka, bringing 170,000 barrels of oil to PG&E's Moss Landing power plant. Tankers like this, arriving from the Mediterranean, South America, and Southeast Asia, bring oil to generate electricity for homes and industry all over Northern and Central California. The high cost of foreign low sulfur oil is one reason your electric bill is up.

THIS IS WHAT KEEPS THE LIGHTS ON.

The Zaraka's cargo is high-cost foreign oil. It's needed to generate much of the electricity you use.

There's cheaper oil available from U.S. sources. But because of its higher sulfur content, environmental restrictions don't permit its use. To meet your electric needs, PG&E must charter tankers to bring in this expensive low-sulfur oil from abroad.

In 1970, we needed about one million barrels a year. Since then, the U.S. Government curtailed huge amounts of our natural gas supply by reallocation to other areas, and the Canadian Government refused to permit the export of another large amount of gas we had under contract there. To take the place of gas in our electric generating plants, our oil burn and storage requirements last year jumped to more than 15 million barrels.

During the same period, the average price of the oil we bought went up from about $2.50 a barrel to about $15 a barrel. PG&E's 1970 oil bill was less than $2 million. In 1974 it was $228 million.

Every electric rate increase granted PG&E by the California Public Utilities Commission since 1971 has been to offset higher costs of fuel oil and natural gas to generate electricity.

We don't like to ask for these rate increases. But we have no choice. Our responsibility is to keep an adequate, reliable supply of electricity flowing into homes, businesses and factories.

Meanwhile, we're doing all we can to hold down our costs and to keep your PG&E bill as low as possible. You can help lower your bill, too, by using energy wisely. PG and E

Like more information? Our "Meter Minders' Guidebook" tells you 67 ways to conserve energy. Another booklet, "Why Gas and Electricity Are Costing You More" explains why PG&E has been forced to ask for rate increases. For copies, phone or visit your local PG&E office. Prefontaine's legacy: enlightened rebellion

COOS BAY, Oregon — Funeral services were held here yesterday for Steve Prefontaine.

A crowd gathered at the Marshfield High School athletic field in a Service of Thanksgiving for the life of one of the world's greatest distance runners, who died in an automobile accident Friday morning in Eugene.

As mid-afternoon sunlight bathed the surrounding laurel grove, there were tributes by Prefontaine's high school and college coaches, a presentation on behalf of the people of Finland, and a song written and sung by Prefontaine's cousin Jan. She urged the people to sing along, emphasizing Prefontaine's favorite verse:

"To be a strong but gentle man, not afraid to speak the truth, to stand against a raging storm and try to right the tide of wrong,

You're a free man full of wonder, here to stay,

You've touched my mind in a peaceful, loving way..."

Prefontaine, born January 25, 1951 in Coos Bay, held American records at 2,000, 3,000, 5,000, 10,000 meters, as well as the two mile (indoor and outdoor), three mile and six mile marks.

He had personal bests of 3:54.6 for one mile and 3:37.2 for 1,500 meters.

He finished fourth in the 1972 Olympic 5,000 meter run at Munich, narrowly missing the bronze medal.

Only a few hours before his death, he ran the second fastest 5,000 meters by an American, in the Oregon Twilight Meet.

Prefontaine was familiar to the sporting public as an outspoken and increasingly articulate critic of America's treatment of its so-called amateur athletes. He often augmented his performances with barbs aimed at the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) in particular and the hierarchy of track and field in general. Last summer, disgusted with the apathetic approach to developing high-level competition in this country, he bypassed the National AAU Championships and financed his own trip to Europe and Scandinavia. He set his American record of 13:22.2 for the 5,000 in June, but became ill and spent a despressing summer in Eugene before returning for one race in Finland in early September.

Perhaps out of frustration — but definitley because he understood that amateurism in America is a hypocritical, paternalistic proposition — Prefontaine declared himself an internationalist. "To hell with love of country," he said, adding that if he were to win a medal at the 1976 Olympics, it would be inspite of the official treatment extended him.

He bemoaned the absence of any ongoing national plan for athletics, quickly reminding that this had nothing to do with subsidies or socialized programs. Coordination of training camps, approaches to sports medicine, proper facilities — the basics.

In America, they are catch-as-catch-can.

I met Pre in March of 1972. Someone kept bringing half-quarts of Budweiser and he reeled off an interview which ran 17 single-spaced pages.

The result was a feature article in Sport magazine. It was my first real breakthrough as a sportswriter. But more important was the chance to spend two days with someone who posed a genuine intellectual challenge. I spent most of the next two weeks white-knuckled in front of an unsympathetic keyboard, cursing this brash little jock for being so open and perceptive.

Some excerpts:

On being recruited by Oregon: "Track coach Bill Bowerman doesn't believe in recruiting a guy. He thinks of it as making love to him ... wining and dining him. And it creates false images... The reason I chose Oregon was because I got a personal letter from Bowerman stating that if I came there he would make me the greatest distance runner the world has ever known."

On "amateur" athletics: "Amateurism is a thing that should have been kicked out in 1920. The true amateurs, by the standards that they were following, were the elite, who were already well-established and set up in clubs and didn't need the money to compete. They were just doing it more or less as a fun thing. The average athlete now is a college student, finding it damn hard to make it.

"Here I am, on food stamps, I get $101 from the University — my room and board. When I don't work, I run for the 'USA' during the summertime, and they pay you in big $2.50 or $3 a day. You know, that takes care of your washing and maybe a couple of beers. So its pretty hard to make it, and I feel that anybody who even PLACES in the Olympic games, if he's an American, is really doing something."

On running in Eugene: "I think the people respect the athletes around here, especially the distance runners, because they know what a person like me has to go through — a general idea of how I get myself ready... To know that the audience is helping me, because they're emotional, just like me, I can grasp this emotional power that they're throwing out. They're wanting it just as much as I am."

In 1972 Oregonians bought thousands of "Go Pre" t-shirts. At the Olympic Trials in Eugene, cheers went up when he simply appeared beside the track in his sweatsuit, an hour before his race.

I remember seeing him in Munich that September, hunched over a display of gold pieces in a bank window which showed the various uses of the metal as a medium of exchange through the ages. You knew he wasn't there to bone up on the history of metallurgy. Sublety wasn't Pre's style. He was window shopping for a gold medal.

When Arab terrorsits violated the peace of the Olympic Village, he went into a combined state of dispair and anxiety. He popped off. "It upsets my schedule," he told a Newsweek reporter. "There just may not be a 5,000 tomorrow," he told me in the tension and frustration prior to the race.

Last week, a few hours after Pre was pinned beneath his overturned MGB, United Press International released the news that tests revealed .16 per cent alchohol content in his blood, i.e., he'd had a few beers after his fast 5,000.

And the inevitable, totally mainstream, tragically ironic news report came from the mouth of an Oakland TV announcer, "America's distance running chances at the 1976 Olympics were dealt a crushing blow this morning when running machine Steve Prefontaine..."

Here, not 24 hours after his death, Prefontaine's greatest hopes as a runner and a person were being treated as so much pulp.

Tell me it didn't happen anywhere else. Tell me that people in the stands at the North Coast Section track meet weren't saying, "Well, there goes another medal at Montreal."

Tell me that an EBAL track coach didn't say, "He brought it on himself, didn't he? I mean, he liked to drink and carouse around ,you know."

Tell me anything. Prefontaine's legacy will endure all manner of petty, superficial blabberings.

When he ran, it was truth time for his competition. Come and get me, he said. When he spoke, his sensitivity could be translated into a challenge: You want to know what's wrong with American athletics? Don't look at the ahtletes.

Steve Prefontaine was a true revolutionary. He used his skills and his charisma to try to improve conditions for people he cared about. He was beyond the sort of "conciousness raising" mouthed by those who are telling us that social change means crying over capitalism and throwing a few more nuts and papayas in the blender.

They carried his casket off the infield and drove him around his high school track and out the gate and then to the cemetery in Coos Bay. The procession was barely out of sight, when four high school girls began running single-file, evenly spaced, around and around the quiet athletic ground.

Go Pre.

Musial returns to laud millionth run

By Murray Olderman

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) — In early May of this year, it was ascertained, through the marvel of computerization, that someone like Bob Watson among some 600 major league baseball players would score the one-millionth run in the history of the big leagues, going back to 1876.

Actually, it happened on May 4.

For that singular feat, some lucky guy in the heartland of America, who eats Tootsie Rolls and gets lucky on predictions, will receive 1,000,000 pennies (or $10,000) and a lifetime supply of the same candy, just for guessing the man who scores the run.

We know this to be so because Stanley Musial personally visited to assure us of the validity of the promotion. And Stan the Record Man is, if nothing else, valid. He arrived with a bag of Tootsie Rolls (which, with the cooperation of baseball, is sponsoring the quest).

Stash, as his fellow Poles called him in Donora, Pa., personally scored 1,949 of those million runs before he retired after the 1963 season to become 1) vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals; 2) restaurateur; 3) banker; 4) hotelier.

This variety of activities makes him affluent enough to swim every afternoon in his own heated pool at his St. Louis manse and to travel the country, if he feels like it, to discuss such mundane matters as scoring runs.

"I think it's a great promotion for baseball," said Stan, the contest chairman. "Baseball is a great game for statistics."

It interests us that of all the varietal statistics in baseball — home runs, runs batted in, batting averages, even stolen bases — the one that has consistently received the least attention is the one that counts the most, scoring runs.

Quick, who led the majors in runs scored last year? No, not Lou Brock. It was Pete Rose (110), who had such a bad season the Reds lopped a neat slice off his salary.

In the last decade, some of the following less than immortal names have led their leagues in scoring (and scoring, they tell us, wins games): Don Buford, Don McAuliffe, Glen Beckert, Felipe Alou and Zolio Versailles. Even Albie Pearson (remember him?) once led the American League in runs scored.

Frank Torre shares a record for scoring six runs in one game; Sammy White is similarly in the record book for three tallies in one inning.

"And they couldn't even run," smiled Stan.

Of course, the good ones score, too. Musial led the National League in that category five different years (only the immortal Babe Ruth ever did better). "Of course," rationalized Stan, "the Cardinals never had a good leadoff man all the years I was playing."

Musial has infallibly been a delightful guy to shoot the breeze with, about baseball or anything else. It's particularly poignant for him to talk baseball now because this year for the first time since 1938, when he broke into organized baseball, he didn't put on a uniform in the spring. He used to help out as a special batting instructor for the Cardinals.

That doesn't mean he has given up on hitting.

"I'm only three pounds over my playing weight," he said. "And even when I quit, they couldn't get the fast ball by me. Only thing is, the ball was getting smaller at night. That upset me. I didn't need glasses."

The uniform that he didn't wear this spring is still hanging in the closet, fresh for wearing. He expects he'll get it out for one of the old-timer games this summer.

Two years ago, he got up in Busch Stadium and hit a liner over the long right field wall (330 feet down the line).

"Hitting's like swimming," he shrugged, "—once you've learned. . . ."

That doesn't mean Stan is contemplating a comeback as a designated hitter. He is 55 now. And he made his $100,000 as a ballplayer. ("I held out only once in my career," reminisced Stan. "I made $18,500 in 1946 and Sam Breadon offered me $21,500." He'd batted .365 to lead the league. He signed for $31,500.)

If he had to play now, it wouldn't leave him time for that swim in the afternoon.

Polomoni's, 17-9

Polomoni's came up with seven runs in the sixth inning Wednesday night to bury Knights of Columbus, 17-9, in Livermore Slow Pitch softball.

Skip Jackson, Ron Armstrong and Tom King all collected three hits to lead the winners' offense.

Tim Cox had three hits for the losers.

Cal-Canners crushed Fish Factory, 23-12, banging out 27 hits. Joe Whalen led the charge with five. Dennis Maycock drove in five runs.

Hayward Auto Imports defeated the Mighty Midgets, 24-13, on 24 base hits. George Wood and Mike Vingo had four apiece. The Importers trailed after an inning, 9-2.

Red Sox, 10-0

Mike Brown sizzled with a three-hitter as the Red Sox defeated the Giants Tuesday, 10-0 in Livermore Babe Ruth baseball.

Bill Macioleck accounted for much of the scoring with a single and double, and three runs-batted-in.

Juvenile hall spectre starts wild police chase

LIVERMORE - A 16-year-old motorcycle driver led police on a chase through residential Livermore Saturday evening, explaining when caught that he feared a return to juvenile hall if found driving without a license.

Patrolman Douglas Bell noted the motorcycle without plates eastbound on Concannon, and when he gave chase, the driver accelerated, turning north on Cordoba and leaning into the left lane at approximately 50 liles per hour.

The driver sped into the driveway of Sunset Apartments and through the parking lot "at a very dangerous speed," police say, cutting across Catalina Court and into the Sunset Development parking lot, then east around the Sunset Building into Barcelona, cutting in front of a car.

Driving through the Granada Shopping Center, he cut across the parking lot and stopped behind a three-foot concrete wall.

The youth allegedly told Bell he'd spent 18 months in juvenile hall and was afraid he'd be sent back if found driving without a license.

He was cited for reckless driving and resisting a police officer and released to his parents.

Basic ends

Navy Seaman Recruit Sherri A. Janssen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Janssen of 740 Jensen St. in Livermore, was graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Orlando.
